GLASS OF ALL KINDS
FOR EVERY PURPOSE

As President of The Canadian Soccer Association, it is my great pleasure to offer a warm welcome to our fellow competitors from Australia.

Canada's World Cup team successfully faced the challenges of playing against the best teams in our region in Round 3 of CONCACAF World Cup Qualifying tournament, having finished second in a round-robin series against Mexico, El Salvador, and Honduras.

As Canada takes to the field in this home-and-home series against Australia to achieve its goal of qualifying for the 15th FIFA World Cup in the United States, it is a good time to look back on our past achievements.

Canada's first introduction to the World Cup dates back to June 22, 1957 when Canada defeated its Southern neighbors 5-1 in a 1958 World Cup qualifier in Toronto. However, Canada's dream of advancing to the finals was realized on its sixth attempt.

The unforgettable achievement by Canada's national team in the quest for a berth in the 1986 World Cup in Mexico continues to be a source of inspiration to us all.

I wish to extend my gratitude to our fans who have supported Canada's national teams. The CSA also acknowledges the support that the Association has received from our many corporate sponsors without whose support our national and regional programs would not have taken off the ground.

I would like to express my sincere appreciation to the many diligent and hard working volunteers and organizers who have made this round of World Cup Qualifying series a wonderful reality for everyone to experience ... thanks.

Terry Quinn
President.

Sincere congratulations to the Alberta Soccer Association, Maclab Enterprises and Crystal Glass for their hard work in securing this event for the city. Thanks also to the volunteers and fans who've helped to make the match a reality. Good luck for an action intense game!

Yours truly,

Jan Reimer

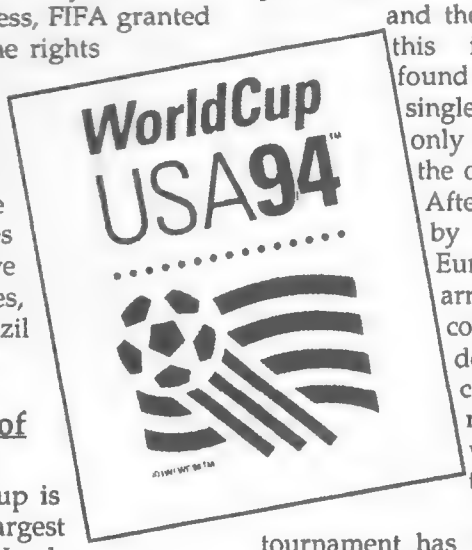
THE EVOLUTION OF WORLD CUP

The United States Soccer Federation, now known as the "US Soccer" notified FIFA of its interest in bidding for the right to serve as the host country for the 1994 World Cup on February 28, 1987. 492 days later and after a lengthy process, FIFA granted the United States the rights to host the XV World Cup during its biennial congress in Zurich July 4, 1988. The United States received 10 Executive Committee votes, Morocco 7 and Brazil 2.



The Evolution of World Cup

The FIFA World Cup is the world's largest single-sport event. Nearly 1.5 billion people watched the 1990 World Cup final on television, triple the audience that watched the 1969 landing on the moon.

The World Cup evolved from its original roots in the Olympic movement of the early twentieth century, particularly the games of the 1920's. Fourteen nations participated in the 1920 Antwerp Olympics; 22, including the first Olympic representatives from South America, Asia and Africa traveled to Paris in 1924; and 17 went to Amsterdam in 1928. It became clear to some in soccer's world governing body, FIFA (Fédération Internationale de Football Association) that the Olympic games, not FIFA, were producing the recognized world champion.

Two years later, May 26, 1928, FIFA announced its plans to run its own competition, and thus the World Cup was born. The FIFA Congress, led by president Jules Rimet, passed a declaration stating that FIFA would organize a competition open to representative teams of all affiliated national associations. The first World Cup tournament was awarded to Uruguay in 1930. Held between the post-war redevelopment of Europe and the Great Depression, this initial tournament found itself without a single European entrant only two months prior to the opening ceremonies. After forceful lobbying by Rimet, four European nations arrived, but nobody could unseat the defending Olympic champion and host nation, as Uruguay won the first of its two championships.

The World cup tournament has flourished over the last 60 years, attracting nearly every soccer-playing nation to its qualifying phase and a cumulative worldwide television audience of 26 billion people during the 1990 games.

Today, the World Cup trophy remains the single most coveted sports trophy in the world. The original World Cup trophy was retired by Brazil after its third title in 1970. The event has been contested every four years since 1930 except in the war years (1942 and 1946).

A record total of 141 nations entered the 1994 World Cup draw, made December 8, 1991 in New York. By the commencement of the first game, to be played on June 17 next year, 493 qualification matches, played in FIFA's six world zones, called Confederations, will have been played. After two years of these qualifying matches, 22 teams will emerge to challenge defending champions Germany and the U.S., the host nation, for the XV FIFA World Cup.

Originally, the tournament was fixed at 16 teams, but current FIFA President Joao Havelange lobbied for and won an increase to 24 finalists for the 1982 World Cup. This expansion has proven beneficial for world soccer, particularly in the game's developing regions. Since 1974 when Dr. Havelange assumed the presidency of FIFA, he has been determined to widen the scope of soccer, far beyond the traditional reach of the European-South American axis. Today, Africa is guaranteed three spots, Asia and North and Central America and the Caribbean two each.

The World Cup Trophy

The World Cup Trophy in use today was designed by Silvio Gazzaniga after the Brazilians won the original, The Jules Rimet Trophy, by capturing their third World Cup championship in Mexico in 1970.

In 1974, FIFA donated a new World Cup trophy for the X World Cup tournament. Gazzaniga's model was chosen by FIFA from among 53 other trophies presented. Gazzaniga described his work: "The lines spring out of the base, rising in spirals, stretching out to receive the world. From the remarkable dynamic tensions of the compact body of the sculpture rise the figures of two athletes at the stirring moment of victory." Constructed in 18 carat gold, the 36 centimeter high trophy weighs 4,970 grams. The original trophy remains in FIFA's possession while the winning Association acquires a gold-plated replica.

The Jules Rimet trophy was designed by French sculptor, Abel Lafleur as a Goddess of victory holding an octagonal vessel in her outstretched hands. It remained in the possession of the Brazilian soccer federation until it was stolen. It has never been recovered. It is believed that the thieves melted down this prestigious award.

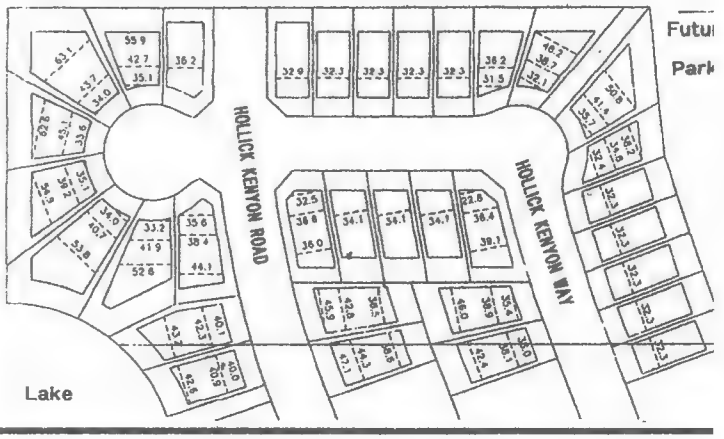
Stage 9

BUILDING POCKET PLAN



CANADA-AUSTRALIA IN EDMONTON

The Canada-Australia game marks the first time a World Cup qualifying match is staged in Alberta or any other Prairie province. Canada has played fifty-three (53) World Cup qualifying matches since it first entered the World Cup competition in 1957. Of the twenty games Canada has played on Canadian soil, Toronto and Vancouver have hosted eight games apiece while Victoria and St. John's have hosted two games apiece. Canada's all-time record in World Cup qualifying in CONCACAF region stands at 22-18-13 (W-T-L).

This is the second time ever a CONCACAF nation is involved in inter-Confederational play-off series. Mexico had to face Paraguay in 1961 in a CONCACAF-Conmebol (South American Football Confederation) play-off series. Mexico eliminated Paraguay by a 1-0 aggregate score (1-0 in Mexico City, 0-0 in Asuncion). The home-and-home series against Australia will increase the number of Canada's World Cup '94 qualifying games to fourteen, the highest number of games played by any nation seeking a World Cup '94 berth around the world.

Sydney Hosts the 2nd Leg

The Australian Soccer Federation announced the second leg of the Canada-Australia series will be staged at Sydney's Football Stadium which seats 38,000 spectators. The game is scheduled for Sunday, August 15 (15:00 local time). The game gets underway at 1:00 am. (EDT) or on Saturday August 14 (22:00 PDT).

Should the two sides be tied on points and goals at the conclusion of the second leg, the away goal rule will apply. For instance, if Australia wins their home game 2-1, and Canada wins their home leg of the series 1-0, Canada will go through by virtue of scoring one goal away from home.

Should both teams win or draw by identical scores, the two sides will play two 15-minute halves of overtime at the conclusion of the second leg. Unless a winner is decided at the conclusion of extra time, the two sides will go into a penalty shoot-out, five per side. And if the two sides are still tied after five penalty kicks, they will go into a sudden death penalty shoot-out until a winner is decided.

The winner of the Canada-Australia series will go on to play South America's group A runner-up. Argentina is expected to clinch first place in that group, leaving Columbia, Paraguay and Peru to fight for the second place.

The Alberta Soccer Association, founded in 1911, is the largest of Alberta's Sport Associations with 1993 membership of over 70,000, and is the provincial governing body of all soccer within the province, youth and senior, male and female, indoors and outdoors.

The preparation for and promotion of this World Cup qualifying game was carried out by Alberta Soccer with considerable assistance from the City of Edmonton, several Edmonton agencies and, of course, the Edmonton area membership of Alberta Soccer. Our sincere thanks to everyone who contributed in making this the most successful home game in Canadian soccer history!
